St. Anthony Church

8233 Helena Road
Harbor Beach, Michigan 48441

Michael G. Dunckel, Pastor

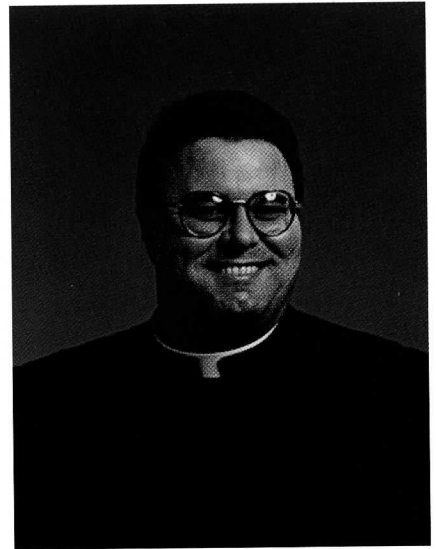

The parish of St. Anthony's embraces a rich heritage dating back into 1800's. Our ancestors had a deep rooted love for the land, a sense of community, and a desire for education. The hallmark trait of these people, however, was their belief in, and love for, God. It was this faith that led to building of our church. A place they gathered to worship and sing praise to their God.

We think our ancestors would take delight in how their dreams, hard work, and faith are being continued today. Many things have changed, some stay the same. Farmers still produce food, but in a much different way. Cattle are no longer loaded on train cars in Helena, but the trucks that haul them still slow down for the tracks, just in case the train is coming. Teachers still fill our minds and those of our children with knowledge, but with the use of computers, fax machines and satellite television.

Ironworkers still fabricate steel and repair equipment but with technology not even dreamed about by our ancestors. People come and people go, but some names remain the same.

One-thing that remains the same, however, is the place of importance God has in the lives of our people. A seed planted by our ancestors long ago and nurtured by all of us down through the years.

We gather to sing praise and worship the same God, in the same building, in a place called St. Anthony's in Helena. A Place scarcely on the map.

Dear Parishioners,

Being a “young” priest, both in the number of years of ordained ministry and biological age, I am often asked why I decided to become a priest in the first place? While that seems like a rather simple question, to answer it will take me a bit of time.

The idea of becoming a priest first started developing within me at a very early age, when I was in grade school and was an altar server at my home parish in Bay City. I can remember thinking to myself as I watched the priest during the liturgy, “Wouldn’t it be neat to be a priest.” But then, like every other grade school boy, that idea would leave my head as soon as something else came along. In both high school and college, the idea of priesthood would come back to me, but I always seemed to brush it aside in favor of some other career choice.

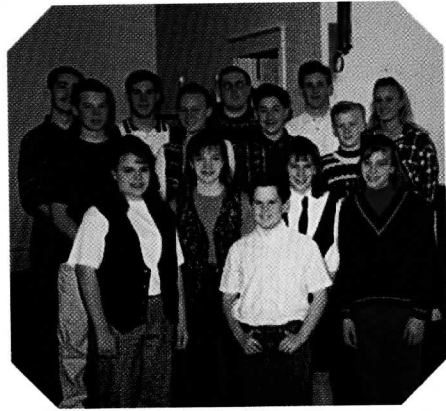

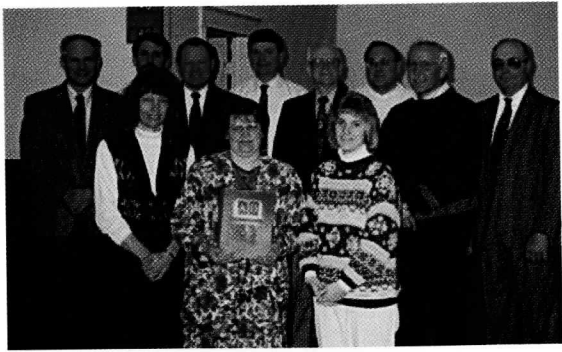

After I graduated from college and had begun my career, the idea of priesthood once again took hold of my life. I remember sitting in Church one Saturday evening when a taped message from Bishop Untener was played. The message was basically the Bishop asking any young man who had ever considered priesthood to please write him a note. As I listened to this message I felt as if a spot light was beaming down on me and I was sure that everyone in the Church knew that I had considered priesthood at some point in my life. That night, I wrote the Bishop a letter and started on my journey.

The journey I took to arrive at priesthood definitely was not a straight path, nor the quickest path. Along the way I needed to take time to further discern this calling I felt. But, each time I stepped away, I felt God calling me back. When I finally decided to complete this journey and seek ordination, I knew that I had made the right decision.

In my three years of ordained ministry I have experienced many surprises. I’ve had to face numerous challenges. I’ve had some disappointments. And, I’ve even shed a few tears. Still, through it all, I have never doubted that God has been with me, guiding me as I strive to answer the call that was given to me so many years ago. The call to become a priest and to serve God and God’s people as best I can. May God continue to bless us all.

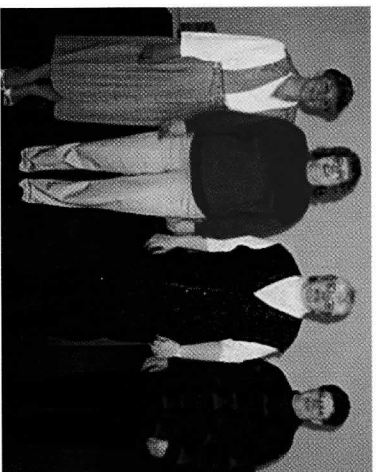

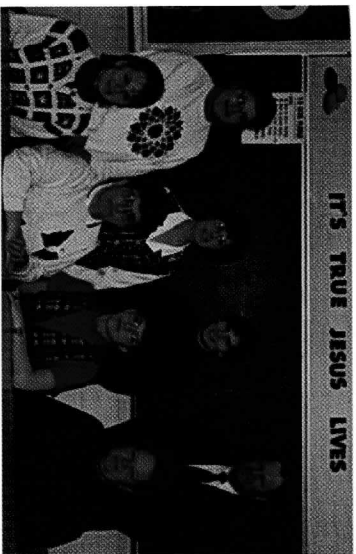

Peace,

Fr. Mike
