An army of youth in the battle against ignorance, natural and supernatural,—united to promote refinement of character, social and cultural, intellectual honesty of Christianity lived and believed, has been organized and is in daily training on the front situated on Medbury—the front of Stanislaus High.

PRO DEO ET PATRIA

... is the cry of graduating class of 1945 as it has been of countless numbers of graduating classes before them. It suffices to look through annuals or memory books of former years to discover that to serve GOD and COUNTRY has been the unquenchable flame that burned in the hearts of youth. Today, in this conflict between good and evil, that flame flares a new brilliance in their hearts, in the hearts of their classmates and millions of others who are dying for God and Country.

Love of country or patriotism is a virtue by which we are inclined truly to choose our land and our countrymen as good for us and as reflections of the goodness of God and to offer our country and our countrymen the honor, reverence, obedience and service due to them under God.

Without God and the supernatural, patriotism degenerates into the vices of Nationalism, Fascism, or Communism. Under God it remains a virtue to be practiced not only in times of national stress and danger but always and everywhere.

With this understanding a new army of youth is going out to fight for GOD and COUNTRY in war and peace.

As school days become "yesterdays" and time dims the outlines of some treasured scene, you will grope for some magic mirror which may reflect clearly and distinctly each face and episode you have known. It is the ardent wish of the staff that the STAN-EM may serve you as such a magic mirror. The STAN-EM has attempted to picture life in school in type and photograph. In particular, during this war period it aimed to give a story how a Stanie like any other loyal American carries the spirit of religion, loyalty, sacrifice and courage.

The staff tried to get all of the story into the book but of necessity we left out much. You can't see all the work that went into it—the burning of mid-night oil by the editors, the trips of the business managers to respective classes to solicit the financial support of the students, and many other both little and big efforts that go into publishing an annual.

And now you have it. Today it is interesting and colorful with its current review of events, and as the years pass may it grow in value with constant dividends of treasured memories.

THE HIGH COMMAND

There is no army without commanding officers. The army of youth—the world's most important army—on St. Stanislaus' Front has its quota of such commanders who meet the opposition in larger or smaller doses and break it down in the very lives of those whom they command—serve—because they keep their eyes fixed on a shining beacon off in a distance: the perfect citizen with all his potentialities actualized in "the land of the free and the home of the brave."

These commanders are our teachers who go in and take the islands and give their lives in the taking not by a single burst of a shell but by a long wearing down of their natural forces.

While our commanders have been devoting their time and effort far beyond the call of duty, they have no medals pinned on them.

The years of service on the home front—the Pastor's ten years, the Principal's eleven—are not recognized by the exchange of two bars for one, or of one bar for three chevrons. Perhaps the principal reason is this, that we, who would want in some way to reward their services, find that the world has nothing adequate even in symbol to express our debt to a life given that others may learn better how to live their own to fullness.

The high command on the St. Stanislaus Front is in the hands of the following whom we. Class of 1945 honor because of their merits:

REV. J. MATLENGA

... REV. VINCENT BORKOWICZ, our beloved Pastor, well known throughout the city, as patriot, as speaker and as a man of letters. To us he is an educator of extensive training and wide experience to whom we always look for guidance and inspiration not only as a teacher of Sociology, but as a leader of youth. It is by him that we were inspired to the high ideals of love of GOD and COUNTRY. Our debt to him is great—all effort to express it in words is futile.

REV. W. JASIONOWICZ

REV. A. NIECKARZ

ON ST. STANISLAUS FRONT

. . . REV. WALTER JASIONOWICZ, for his inspiring talks during Holy Name and Sodality meetings as well as all his efforts in connection with his office as disciplinarian.

... REV. JOSEPH MATLENGA, for whom we, quite athletically inclined, shall always hold a soft spot in our hearts for his work at one time as an athletic director and for his administration of business affairs.

... REV. ANDREW NIECKARZ for his sacrifice of time and effort in keeping the cagers fit to win victories on the basketball court, for his planning that all would be well with the galloping Broncos.

... DR. OSOWSKI to whom the faculty always looks forward as an "All Out Aid." He is the one on whom the Commanders on the S. S. High Front rely as an important backer. Because of his generosity in giving the financial support, the following are receiving their training at St. Stanislaus High School: T. Fox, M. Bush, R. Fox, R. Szydlowski, T. Staskowska, T. Michalak, R. Kokowicz, G. Kowalska, D. Wawrzyk, F. Tadrzynski, E. Daneluk, A. Cyplik, A. Lyjewski, B. Martin, R. Pierog, J. Nowakowski, J. Samulowicz, and D. Cavazos.

... The Coaches, WATTA, WEGIENEK, JOD-WAY, SOBCZAK and BUKOWSKI, for promoting the athletic program in our school which has been expanded to include football.

... SISTER MARY AURELIA for her counsel and guidance, for always so kindly bearing with us in our difficulties for guiding us over the hurdles of high school life for her molding of God-fearing scientists, and yet never seeking acknowledgement for her arduous work.

... SR. M. ANGELINA for her zeal in promoting the interest of the Missions and satisfying the love of beautiful in many students through Art Department for preparation of posters for occasions.

... SR M. BENEDICTA for her direction of the Holy Name Society and for graphic presentation of historical events and present problems.

... SR. M. BRUNONA for her kind service and helpfulness to supply us with the essentials in the general office and doing the odd jobs of secretarial nature.

Sr. M. Expedita

... SR. M. CAMILLE for her endeavors to make us true Sodalists who will go out into the world as young women who know the importance of personal holiness.

... SR. M. CESLAVA for her work in training the future executives with abundant knowledge of typing, bookkeeping and shorthand for her excellent direction of traffic department.

... SR. M. DOBROSLAVA for her endurance record in fostering all school activities, for her invaluable help in promoting athletics and for satisfying the scientific needs of Biology classes.

... SR. M. DOSITHEA for preparing meals to ever-starved students, for teaching the girls to prepare delicious meals and for her supervision of the Varsity Banquet and the Traditional Senior Breakfast. In Mainter

... SR. M. ELZEARIA for creating sweet and pleasant musical programs, for bringing so much gayety into our lives by song and music.

... SR. M. EXPEDITA for her kind and generous helpfulness and patience shown in the library.

... SR. M. GREGORY for her attempts to carry over the Frosh through the mystery of numbers and letters—Algebra.

. . . SR. M. HUMILIANA for the pleasant math classes, for teaching the boys and girls to reason and think.

... SR. M. POLICARP for developing in the boys and girls love of knowledge of the Polish culture and tradition.

... SR. M. RAYNELDA for always satisfying our literary needs, for help in publishing the EAGLET. M. Raynella

... SR. M. SOPHRONIA for her energetic efforts in promoting the Red Cross activities, for bringing help to the needy and unfortunate. We will not soon forget those to whom we

We will not soon forget those to whom we owe so much for courage, patience, and guidance throughout our most pleasant school days, and above all for preparing us to meet obstacles in our life to come, and continue to fight for God and Country.

GOLD STARS

We Salute those who have paid in blood for our priceless heritage GOD and COUNTRY.

As we honor our dead alumni today it behooves us to pay our respects to one whom St. Stanislaus High does not claim yet mourns as her own — President FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT. Words fail to express our tribute to him. History and we will remember Franklin Roosevelt, as a man who gave hope to a world which had almost forgotten to hope, strength to his nation in the hour of its bitterest trial and justice to those who had never known it before.

LIEUT. STEPHEN MROCZKOWSKI, Class '32,

was the first of the sons of S. S. High to give his life in the present world conflict. His ship, the destroyer escort Eversole, was torpedoed in the battle of Philippines, on October 29. Lieutenant Mroczkowski kept swimming back and forth helping to save others; finally he gave his preserver to another man. He lived 36 hours only after he was rescued. His heroic death speaks for itself.

PFC. STANLEY J. JANUSZCZAK of Class 1933 lost his life on December 28, 1944, over the English Channel.

PFC. GERALD J. PARGULSKI was killed in action on December 17, 1944, in Belgium.

SGT. STANLEY GAWLINSKI, a turret gunner on a B-17, was shot down over Czecho-Slovakia on March 26, 1945.

It is possible that other alumni, loyal to the teaching of their Alma Mater, may have laid their lives nobly for their God and Country; however, news has not reached us.

BLUE AND SILVER STARS

Our Boys!

There are hundreds of boys and girls who have left St. Stanislaus High fortified with courage to go out into the world and fight sin with goodness, error with truth.

On all fronts of the world our school is represented and nobly too by men or even boys who do not speak the word "sacrifice" but live it day by day. News of glorious achievements reach us—one dies heroically saving others; another displays unusual consciousness of mind and thereby helps to bring the day of victory nearer.

To them we pay homage today, and we promise that following their example we will do our share of service to GOD and COUNTRY when the time comes.

From the East and West, North and South, the charge of about 450 rookies is on—many of whom have felt a restlessness, a desire to go out and do something tangible in this great war, that is, they wanted to fight. Finally, they decided to stay on the home front; and education became their choice. The materials of war and death—guns, ammunition, planes and tanks—are being weighed in balance against the instruments of education and understanding which will forge their outlook on the future. Preparedness is their watchword.

THE DAILY ASSAULT ON S. S. FRONT

They are well aware that a great responsibility now faces education, that of preserving the peace which is being won at such sacrifice on the battlefields by young people who so recently were enrolled in our schools.

Squarely on the shoulders of those left behind has been placed the task of planning a future of which they will be proud—the planning of a more abundant life free from those discordant forces which, in the excitement of the aftermath of war, will attempt to creep in and threaten the democracy upon which depends the economic and social welfare of our country.

CAMPAIGNS OF THE DEFENDERS

FRESHMEN CAMPAIGN

The day arrived when we prepared to begin our High School careers in the portals of St. Stanislaus High. Not being accustomed with the rituals of High School life, we looked forward with anxiety towards studies in a most cautious manner. Our future, unknown; yet we were determined to carve a niche in our school's history.

In order to become full fledged Stanislausians and accept the responsibilities facing us in our future years, we were adopted into the fold by a hilarious initiation. To strengthen our friendship with our fellow schoolmates, a "Get Acquainted Dance" was sponsored for our benefit with great success.

During our Freshmen year, war was declared thus upsetting our bright peace time future and taking away many frills and fancies of a carefree life. Naturally we geared ourselves to gain knowledge in a world torn with pain and sufferings. We now knew that greater effort must be given to our work first of all to help in every way possible to bring victory and then to prepare ourselves to better understand and remedy the effects of the war world.

As freshmen our first duty was to select a motto, a Patron Saint, colors and title for our class which would serve to us an inspiration and objective.

A few journalistically minded boys from 201 began publishing a freshman newspaper. Due to unforseen circumstances the publication was discontinued after a short while.

With the close of our final examination we were very happy, for we had climbed our first step towards the attainment of a valuable education.

SECOND CAMPAIGN

When we returned to St. Stanislaus to begin our second scholastic year, several faces were missing from the group. The membership had diminished and classes were united; rooms 101 and 202 as one group were located on the main floor in room 105. We became acquainted in a short time and cooperated in every respect.

Initiation once more rolled around only we were in good spirit, for we were seeking revenge for our last year's grievances.

The class newspaper was resumed at this time again and an improvement was noted in the articles. Only one copy of it circulated around the room. We felt war touching us closer for our ranks were depleting and William Merecki left for the Marine Corps; our loss, their gain.

The Broncos brought high honors to our school by winning Second Division Championship at Olympia before the eyes of an enormous crowd of spectators. Zygie Sych was the most valuable player on the team this season.

This year passed so quickly that before we knew it June was around the corner and another enjoyable year came to an end.

THIRD CAMPAIGN

Juniors, that is what the victorious Defenders were now called. We were now in the upper half of the brackets and had to set a good example for the lower classmen.

The class paper of 103 was renamed "The Junior Journal."

Our first activity of the year, the Annual Junior Roller Skating party, to raise money for the traditional senior breakfast, was a success; for the proceeds were far beyond expectations.

Due to the war and great need of help our school adopted the war time program. Special training in aeronautics and Aero-Mechanics were given to junior boys who were interested.

The Juniors of 103 won the Patron Drive and attended a banquet in their honor.

This year the Broncos were classed as a First Division Team because of the increase in enrollment. Art Tadrzynski and Jerry Ruhrman were selected by the Times as valuable players. Just as in previous years the Broncos won many honors, under the capable hands of the coach. Mr. Frank Watta.

A girls' basketball team was also organized under the name of Bronco-eds, suggested by the Principal Sister M. Aurelia, and participated in our Athletic Program. The basketball season ended and we began to pay more attention to our studies.

This school year also rolled past with incredible swiftness.

FINAL CAMPAIGN

Our enjoyable vacation quickly fled and once again we found ourselves in school but now as Seniors. Our journey finally came to an end. The senior year started in full swing with the election of the high school officers and student council. The following were elected: Bernard Brill president, Hedy May secretary, Chester Olszewski treasurer.

The seniors publish the monthly edition of the Eaglet. Due to this the class paper was discontinued. The annual Varsity Nite was given by the seniors. Music was presented by "Smiles and His Band."

The traditional ring day and breakfast were held after Solemn Mass. Father Borkowicz, the Pastor, blessed and placed the ring on the fingers of the graduates. The seniors will always remember the pastor's address.

The Broncos this year brought greater honors than ever before. They won Divisional Championship, Regional Championship, District Championship, and went as far as Lansing only to meet defeat at the hands of the strong Sturgis team. Art Tadrzynski and Jerry Ruhrman repeated All City and another man, "Dippy" Dombrowski, was added to the list.

Through the course of the last three years the seniors bade farewell to some of the classmates who had to forego school life and graduation, and were incorporated into a greater army to fight "For God and Country." At the end of the Junior year the Kudla Twins, Henry and Chester left. In September, Hank Lipke joined the ranks; Richard Kowalski and Alfred Polakowski at the end of the first semester.

About two months before school closed "Dippy" Dombrowski, Walter Thiede, Leo Kwiatkowski left. Just when the annual was being sent to press J. Talarowski was called.

As the months of hard work and preparation were coming on to an end, the whole nation was stunned by a severe blow. Their commander-in-chief, President Franklin D. Roosevelt died at the beginning of his fourth term, April 12, 1945. To us, the army of youth, he always will be an inspiration in our endeavors for GOD and COUNTRY.

The annual Senior Prom at St. Stanislaus Ballroom was held on May 5th; music was furnished by "Wally Trusk and his orchestra."

Our days of hard work are at the end, and plans are made for another war-time graduation.

Now only memories are left for us, memories of days—pleasant days—to hold and treasure.

WE LEAVE BEHIND

In the heart of every departing Graduate of the Class of '45 is a deep gratitude to the Priests and Sisters for their spiritual guidance, for their patience in directing us in all our undertakings, time, advice and instruction, and for their loyal friendship. To the Juniors, we leave our traditions and ask them to keep them and carry them on.

To the Juniors and underclassmen we leave all the benefits and advantages obtained throughout our stay here. The beliefs and ideals of this, our school, are there for you to carry out. We hope that you will enjoy your school years as much as we have enjoyed ours. To prepare you for the responsibility to take over the duties of a citizen of a great nation, we leave to you the progressive, challenging, helpful faculty of our school; we leave with you companions with whom we worked loyally, intelligently, and devotedly in the classrooms, in sports and in all activities of the school which have been functioning on a wartime basis.

It is up to you to vitalize the school spirit by participating in all of its functions—You must not let them down. We feel that you should maintain the highest standards of the school. In every progressive school, there must always be room for improvement. To make additional changes we, each one of us, leave something to some of you with which to start:

IN THE NEAR FUTURE

As I sat in my office at the F. B. I. Bureau, it was with some surprise and pleasure that I received distinguished callers, namely, Sec. of State B. Brill and Senator J. Hojnacki. They asked whether it was possible to contact the class of '45 and assemble them for a reunion at an exclusive hotel owned by C. Olszewski. It was not difficult at all for just as I began to act, it seemed that wherever I turned I bumped into one of my classmates. I always knew that the class of 1945 will take the world some day.

With the help of E. Kossarek, International Air Transport Supervisor, all necessary arrangements were made and I soon found myself being driven to the airport by his efficient secretary, I. Gajewska.

A plane designed by J. Lewandowski was made ready on the runway for the long flight by a staff of mechanics under R. Osmialowski. The plane was being fueled with a high grade gasoline developed by the renowned chemist, B. Zimna. The final preparations were soon completed.

It was here that the famed military aviator, Mayor J. Talarowski walked in and took charge of the journey. Further enhancing the trip was the competence of the hostess, A. Makowska. While traveling the broad expanse of the Pacific, I had the opportunity to read a newspaper article written by political news analyst, I. Ruszczynska and listen to the broadcast of a lecture on home sanitation by a social worker, R. Traczyk, followed by a drama starring E. Kucharek and J. Pomaranska. We set our plane down on the elaborate airport of Hawaii, which was constructed and perfected by army engineers including A. Kubiak and C. Sonnenfeld, its present commander being Col. E. Nowodworski. Checking the spread of tropical diseases on the Islands was Dr. R. Strzalkowski, who found able assistance in nurses G. Minkiewicz and L. Okonowska. Also stationed here with the Waves were P. Paruszkiewicz and G. Nowicka.

Our next destination was Japan. At Tokyo we met some of the leaders constituting the Allied Military Government, among whom were W. Thiede and L. Kwiatkowski representing the U. S. Army and Navy. During my short stay I was able to dine with Marine Commandant of this section, Col. A. Dombrowski and his wife, the former V. Silik. Vacationing in the nearby Philippines were some of the smarter set headed by E. Wolanska and L. Laskowska. Two famed agriculturalists were conducting experiments here, V. Zawacka and N. Keitz.

The mission continued over the primitive parts of Asia and China where deep in the interior C. Chiodo and V. Sanocka were devoting themselves to educating the natives. Also exploring this wild and uncivilized land was the expedition of J. Paniczkowska and A. Legwand. Field offices of T. Strzelewicz could be found in many districts of China where he was commissioned by the government of that country to expand its electrical facilities. Flying across the Near East and the Red Sea finally found me in Cairo, Egypt. Doing extensive research work here was the world traveled archaeologist, G. Przekora. Exporting fine perfumes to the United States was the well known firm of May and Okray. Directing the operation of the Suez Canal was C. Wierzbinski.

The next stop was London, where G. Polak and C. Popielec were giving to the newspaper men the American woman's view of a world conference. London was also the headquarters for A. Tadrzynski, director of physical fitness for the American occupational troops in Europe. L. Skowronska and S. Urbanska were members of a U.S.O. entertainment group playing for the boys at camps here. Last leg of the journey was New York. This was the site of a national cosmetic firm owned and operated by E. D'Annunzio and J. Maliszewska. L. Malinowska was the dean of an elite girls' school and the city was singing ballads popularized by C. Sitek's orchestra and its featured singer, S. Zamojska. Perhaps their success was due to the smart publicity manager. G. Ruhrman. Head of customs inspector at Ellis Island was E. Opalewski. Working for a Master of Law degree at Harvard was V. Klein; J. Baranska was also a co-ed on the campus.

Thus the members of the class of '45 had been located and informed that they were now to gather for the purpose of renewing old acquaintances which could not be "forgot."

SENIORS IN SERVICE

Our class of 1945 has spent its high school career entirely under the war clouds; hence, the number continually dwindled because Uncle Sam claimed some of them. The first to leave in the Sophomore year was W. MERECKI who today wears the purple heart for injuries suffered on Iwo Jima. The twins, CHESTER and HENRY KUDLA, fine athletes, left us at the end of the Junior year to fight as valiantly for bigger stakes on another team.

In the senior year, school was just two weeks old when HENRY LIPKE joined the ranks. Today he is somewhere in Italy.

There were two more athletes, DIPPY and LITTLE LEO; the former is with the Marines, the latter is getting ready to man the ships that make our glorious Navy.

Again there were others, A. POLAKOWSKI and R. KOWALSKI who argued and discussed with us ideas and ideals; today they are fighting to uphold them.

WALTER THIEDE left just the other week. Quiet, unassuming, he will make his actions speak.

With the departure of J. TALAROWSKI the other day the class is represented in all branches of service. He is in the Army Air Corps.

When the lights go on again all over the world, they will be back with us to laugh, love and live again.

The outstanding characteristic of Room 105 is our motto: "Everything what's mine is yours." Homework is shared with charity, understanding and hope of reward. A common sentence is: "I'll do it today . . . you do it tomorrow."

Under the patient direction of Sister Sophrotia, who by the way is our commander for the two consecutive years, we are becoming an asset to the school. It's a slow process but after all "Rome wasn't built in a day." The higher our goal is, the longer and steeper the journey. Our girls are very generous our boys call it extravagance. When voluntary collections are made one can hear: "A penny saved is a penny earned." When the names of eight millionaires in about ten years from now will be announced, check up the school record and you'll see they're from the class of '46 the glory of 105.

We're a very humble class if I must say so myself. The least hint of pride is curbed by a look on our report card.

In every sense of the word, we are a group of congenial students; we give wholehearted co-operation and an enthusiastic response to any kind of cause which falls upon as a responsibility. If by any chance we find ourselves hovering near the bottom we do not need much coaxing to step up nearer the top.

There is something wrong with the nature that prefers mist to sunshine; and Room 103 is sunshine. We are the kind that are cheerful, always in search of a little fun, and, naturally just a wee bit of ... mischief. Yet we boast of a group of fine, talented athletes, who have added and will add more in the future to the glory of our dear S. S. High.

At times we like to play conservatives by handling our books as little as possible, because of paper shortages, but our liberal policy got us down to work and do wonders as any of our teachers will readily admit.

In achieving all our enterprises we realize of course, that much was accomplished through the efforts of others. By "others" we mean: the encouragements of Sr. M. Benedicta, our home-room teacher, and the entire faculty.

LEADERS! that's our motto. In such a big school as ours, it is not always possible to be in the lead, but if one takes a look at the activity chart, one will find out that Room 101 is striving to be LEADERS.

A peek into Room 101 will prove that this is a war time class; and hence, there is manshortage ... the girls outnumber the boys four to one. However, the girls are not a domineering type and give the boys a chance to assert themselves.

The Junior year brought us face to face with some new studies—shorthand, typing, and biology. We found out, however, they could be mastered by constant application, and now we look over those first days of fright with subdued chuckles. We are getting more adept at our new skills and consider ourselves quite intelligent. This last statement is only our opinion and may be challenged by our teachers.

Let's tarry a day with the recruits who are spending their time with such famous persons as Mr. Al Gebra, Sir English, Mr. Science, Emperor Latinus, and Father Religion. They are not as difficult people to get along with as we thought; indeed, they are even pleasant and congenial friends

Our first stop on the elevetor of studies in the sophomore year is in Latin class where we meet Caesar and his army with able bodied lieutenants, Labienus, Fabus, Cicero, and Cotta. Here we linger a while for a mock battle, put on for our enjoyment. Then we go to English and Literature where we meet Rebecca in Ivanhoe, and Mr. Subject and Mr. Predicate. Then we break up, the boys to Geometry where they see circles and triangles, joining hands to make an interesting period, and the girls to bookkeeping class where there is a continual battle between debits and credits. We then meet again in Religion class where we learn the importance of the supernatural in our daily lives. We now stop in the land of historians—Modern History—and meet the extravagant Louis XIV and the ancient "Bluebeard," Henry VIII. After being confused by ancient peoples trials and battles, we settle down to a quiet hour of music and bring the day to an end.

THE FRESHEST ROOKIES

Too many new, exciting things happen to one in his Freshman year, to trust them all to his or her memory, so I have jotted all of mine into a diary. What memories so I have jotted all of mine into a diary. Sept. 18— Remember how—140 strong—we walked in timid yet determined, shy and yet proud, trying our best not to look too obviously new?

We were divided into four groups. One group, where there was no man shortage was located on the second floor in Room 201—all very scholastic and raring to go on the road to education.

The other three groups occupied the third floor; to them certainly sky is the limit.

Room 301—a group of fine girls who promise to be women who are going to keep the home fires burning very pleasantly. They are gifted with talents which are so essential to a housewife—sewing and cooking.

Room 302 again has a group of newcomers who promise to be assets not only to themselves but to the school. The boys accepted opportunities to take part in sports while the girls cheered and inspired them to victory.

Room 303 where I am parked, as it seemed to me contained a lot of vigor and enthusiasm. If anyone observed them together, one could see a group of "Vigilantes" not the bashful, timid newcomers, but an interested. snappy, wide awake group, that certainly took no trouble to make their presence known. And here's Initiation—with what dread we looked

And here's Initiation—with what dread we looked forward to that day.

And now . . . the "How-Do-You-Do" dance . . . the first roller skating party. Remember how we couldn't do all the fancy foot work that the Juniors and Seniors were showing, but we still had fun and loads of it.

The pages of my diary aren't all filled with parties and laughs and fun. In between are pages filled with thoughts of serious studies.

As I thumb further through the pages of this book. I find that in rapid succession followed our Christmas Assembly, the quarterly tests—the least said after these, fear-filled hcurs, the better. Next came the Valentine dance, another skating party and loads of basketball games in between.

Yes, it's been a full year and a happy one too. When one's young he seldom looks back and so it's to the future we look, to three more years and what they'll hold for us. From all indications they will be long ones with lots of work and activities to make more pleasant memories to look back on, when looking back will be all we have.

The present war "is the war smashed through the w ated programs determined to aim with intensive application to produce work of high quality. There was left no room for intellectual slackers. All had to make best of the benefits and privileges offered them.

BOOKS ARE WEAPONS-WE FIGHT VALIANTLY

Many of us were busier than ever for our civilian world was mingled with the military world. War activities were added—heavier burdens we were carrying, for many worked after school hours relieving the labor shortage.

Life spread out before us as we not only learned our readin' 'riting and 'rithmetic, but we put our knowledge into practice even now not waiting for the opportunity of solving problems of living in the world in the distant tomorrow.

RELIGION

It is easy to go out and face life's problems with a strong religious foundation to support one. Conscious of this truth, the curriculum at St. Stanislaus High makes religious classes the most important.

Here religion is not a thing of classroom. It is the reality of man's life. Religion is translated into life. To make religion live in students the Holy Name regiment outlines with precision the campaign to further the cause of the Holy Name. Meetings are held regularly. The girls, as Sodalists under the banner of Our Lady, carry the fight against ravages brought by sin and evil. They aim to emulate Her virtues and become young women who will have the strength to heal the wounds of body and soul of the boys who will come home.

To instill the hope of Victory to the black robes who fight against paganism the students ardenttly bring their support by weekly financial contributions to the missions and daily prayers and sacrifices.

There is a 100% enrollment in the Propagation of Faith Society in addition to the numerous donations to the almost daily appeals made to them from God's other fronts. They have adopted a seminarian and are contributing regularly to his education —a safe investment indeed.

Thus God's causes lie close to the hearts of the warriors on the St. Stanislaus High Front.

The students are made conscious of the fact that Mastery of English is essential for understanding and interpretation of enemy propaganda and as a medium for the sound presentation of truth.

Because majority of the rookies coming to the S. S. High front are of POLISH extraction it is important for them to know their tongue, Because over 50% of the English words are derived from LATIN, because it is the language of the Church and because in some measure it introduces the students to the source of the western culture, Latin is one of the languages in the curriculum. Though many admit the difficulty yet they enjoy, as this group, following Caesar in his campaigns in Gaul. The contrast between the methods of warfare of Caesar's time and present provides them many an hour of interest. They realize that modern military strategists have learned much from Caesar and that human nature has not changed through ages.

It is easy to go out and face life's problems with a strong religious foundat Conscious of this truth, the curriculum at St. Stanislaus High makes religious c portant.

Many students majored in science and math solely because they realized America's great need in war and peace. Basic requirements for all courses in military operations, be it blueprinting munitions for production or mapping an attack, are mathematics and science. Algebra, geometry, physics, biology, general science, aeronautics are not only potent means of carrying an offensive against principles which are destructive to American way of living but also against careless thinking. According to the opinion of educators the courses which will be of greatest value in winning the war and assuring lasting peace are not those of immediate practical utility but those which will teach the citizens to think.

AVIATION is changing the World:

The pilots who in the future will sail the ships in the clouds are becoming acquainted with the rudiments of aeronautics in the laboratory every day.

To Freshmen who take the course in GENERAL SCIENCE opens a world of wonder. The apprehension of the marvels going about them brings an attitude of reverence. There is keen enjoyment and after few lessons the world can never become dull or uninteresting they will live fuller, richer, kindlier lives.

BIOLOGY stirs the youthful scientist to keen research. The animal and plant life unfolds to him realms of nature—wonders of the creative power of God too deep, too beauteous, and too sacred for the mind of man to perceive.

The PHYSICS students know all there is to know about matter at rest and matter in motion. They also know that regardless in what state it is it cannot be destroyed. They have studied mechanics, electricity, sound, all of which will be of great help to them not only when they are called to serve their country but also in time of peace when the demand for engineers, pilots and mechanics will be increased.

VOCATIONAL FIELDS

HOME ECONOMICS

It is easy to go out and face life's problems with a strong

The girl who learns to sew today is a better homemaker tomorrow.

To the girl of today ... and the woman of tomorrow ... sewing is an important household art. The curriculum gives an opportunity to every girl who wishes to take it to learn everything from the fundamentals of sewing to home dressmaking. And do the girls enjoy the class.

Sewing, however, is just one phase of the household art. The other, even more important... the key to every man's heart is cooking. Step by step, every girl masters the culinary art. The rest of the school can testify, for the tempting aroma of delicious cookies and cakes often invite them to cafeteria.

The Home Economic girls have an opportunity to "show off" when they prepare the traditional Varsity dinner and senior breakfast.

AERO-MECHANICS

Through the special arrangement made by Reverend C. Deady, Superintendent of Parochial schools, the boys from our school have an opportunity to take courses in Aircraft Engines where they prepare themselves for Vocational Fields. They take those courses in the afternoon in the public schools which have the necessary equipment while in the morning they take the courses which are academic at St. Stanislaus School. Thus their education is balanced.

When the students finish their course in aircraft engines, they will be eligible to take the C.A.A. test required of all civilian and military personnel before they work on airplane engines.

BUSINESS

The specialist and expert in any line—business, law, personnel administration, quite as much as science and military tactics—is sitting on top of the world at any time. Therefore, boys and girls are carefully trained in the rudiments of business subjects. Typewriters beat staccato every minute of the day while boys and girls keep their fingers flying.

The business regiment has relieved the labor shortage thus aiding the war effort in many ways. The girls have offered their time to work without any remuneration in the rationing board and other centers connected with war work.

We the students at S. S. High not only studied together, but we planned and worked, that is, pulled together for the common cause, sharing each others success and failure. With victory as our goal, we on the home front pushed the attack with our pennies and dollars buying bonds and launching paper drives and charity collections of c'othes and other useful articles.

Morale is a lot of little things—a prayer, a song, an assembly, a play, and the result is the command of the secret to victorious peace—mutual trust founded on justice and righteousness, respect for individual rights founded on the belief that all men are created equal in the sight of God.

WE PULL TOGETHER FOR COMMON CAUSE

Therefore, we prayed together every day at Mass and in class. Every Wednesday, we gathered for group singing. Once a month, we held assemblies where programs were given as occasion demanded. There were dances ... usually a "Hello" Dance, a Halloween, Valentine, and finally the Senior Prom. There were skating parties too.

It is easy to see that the year at S. S. High was a year of delightful pleasure and united effort, and as far as morale is concerned "sky's the limit."

Like all America, the Red Cross Battalion was all out on the home front unified in action and in spirit. For Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter holidays, the rookies with the help of Art and Typing Departments prepared cards and tray favors for distribution in hospitals and U.S.O. centers. From time to time, they have launched paper drives relieving paper shortage and at the same time helping the war effort by contributing to Polish relief society the proceeds from the sale.

The most important activity of the year was the wholehearted support of the student body given to national Red Cross Drive. The Drive was preceded by a Red Cross Rally in which the whole school participated from kindergarden on.

A SINGING SCHOOL IS A HAPPY SCHOOL

Then, indeed, S. S. High was a happy place to be... group singing, choir singing, choral classes, singing at pep meetings and singing at games — a whole regiment of music makers blended their voices in unity shaking the school walls with reverbration.

The outstanding events of the year, however, were the broadcast of Polish lullabies on a national hook-up and the Music Fiesta in June.

The merry makers were also represented splendidly in all city choir under the direction of Mr. Harry Seitz. President ... Bernard Brill Secretary ... Hedwig May Treas. Chester Olszewski

STUDENT COUNCIL

PEACE TABLES...that will keep Victory secure! America's young people are not just dreaming of a better world tomorrow. They are equipping themselves for it. At St. Stanislaus as in thousands of American schools the youth of America arre being guided in the principles of sound democracy. They are prepared for intelligent participation in the just and peaceful world community which must be built out of the present chaos and destruction.

One of the big projects undertaken this year was the stamp drive which began in January and ended in April. The mission regiment has contributed MILLIONS of stamps to the mission cause. The squad of Room 101 deserves special commendation for their share in the drive.

THE EAGLET STAFF

FIGHTERS IN A GREAT CAUSE—FREEDOM OF PRESS

The EAGLET Staff experienced a thrill similar to that of the editors of world's largest newspapers when they took up their pens to write and edit. They've helped others to understand their views—They learned the importance of deadlines and timing. They learned a lot about how to get along with other people and that's important everywhere and at all times. Writing taught them importance of accuracy—individual responsibility—teamwork respect for others—discipline—recognition of authority—initiative—loyalty to a worthwhile cause and enthusiasm.

To those boys in service whose addresses were known. The Staff mailed a copy of the EAGLET. It was a tie which bound them with us. We were privileged, indeed, that we could bring them a bit of joy as they themselves expressed so many times.

When the Broncos won the District Championship the Staff, to commemorate that victory, published a special edition of the EAGLET. Here it is fresh from the press getting a look over. Sharpl Isn't it?

In addition to the job of editing the "EAGLET" C. Sonnenfeld has kept his last year's job as an artist. It was through his efforts that the "EAGLET" had quite an artistic dress at times.

The Duke of Wellington, while watching a game of cricket on the playing field at Eton, remarked, "The Battle of Waterloo was won here." True, the truth of the Duke's assertion cannot be proved with the finality of the Pythagorean theorem, but nevertheless its lack of indisputable proof does not establish its falsity. The statement could have been and probably was true—the Duke should know; he was there.

It can be argued, however, defensibly that American youth have proved themselves in their quick preparation for combat and their skill in combat above the goose-stepping youth produced by Hitler's regimentation. In other words, athletics have made a considerable contribution to the superiority of the American youth.

There are ten elements which athletics transfer to soldiery—discipline, teamwork, strategy, courage, self-sacrifice, self-control, self-confidence, perseverance, physical conditioning and appreciation of the need for same and finally motor skill. To acquire these qualities has been the primary objective of the athletic directors and athletics at St. Stanislaus High School. That she succeeded in developing all these qualities is shown by the fine athletes now proving their worth to the country on all fronts, and those who will play on some teams for Uncle Sam in the near future.

BRONCOS GALLOP TO VICTORY

Three seniors will soon go out and fight for Red and White. Those three were appointed as captains, alternating at every game. "DIPPY" DOMBROWSKI landed a well deserved spot on the Detroit News All-City Team. GERRY RUHRMAN was placed on the Free Press All-City Team. "ART" TADRZYNSKI, our hard working center, was named on all three papers and besides he was selected for the All-State Team. For the first time in the school's history a player has been so honored and also for the first time three players made the All-City Teams.

Having such records behind them, it is safe to say they will make even greater records for themselves and their school when they go out and fight for bigger and nobler causes.

DEFENDERS OF RED AND WHITE

This year's St. Stanislaus basketball team, the Galloping Broncos, engaging First Division competition for the second year, gained state wide recognition as well as city laurels, for their fine playing throughout the season. The athletes of St. Stanislaus High having showed stiff competition to major opposition for the past few years, were rated as the fifth best Class B Quintet in the State of Michigan.

At the beginning of the season everyone spoke of the marvelous chances our team, with three remaining veterans, would have. The Broncos, with the help of their loyal fans, not only made these predictions come true but even surpassed them to the amazement of the many aggressors.

The boys played valiantly throughout the whole season and extended their all time winning streak from 26 to 34 consecutive League victories. This is a Catholic League Record which will stand for many seasons to come.

In the League games the toughest opposition was given by De La Salle and St. Joseph teams to the Broncos. They first game with De La Salle was a "super-thriller." The Varsity had to go into overtime to win by a score of 30-26, and hundreds of spectators breathed a sigh of relief after the final whistle blew.

Gerry Ruhrman and "Dippy" Dombrowski were the standouts of this game, scoring the all important points by sinking a basket apiece in the three minute overtime.

The return game was easy; our boys won, 38-26. However, against St. Joseph the Broncos had to fight two hard battles.

The first game playing at their gym, and losing at the intermission, an inspired Bronco squad got back into their fire-engine tempo, came out in the second half and turned defeat into victory by a score of 36-32. At our gym the Varsity encountered just as much trouble but managed to win by four points again, the score being 37-33.

The Broncos humbled the remaining competition, and with eight victories against no defeats took the East Side title for the second straight year.

In the City Championship Semi-Final Play Offs the Broncos put up a great battle against Catholic Central and defeated them in overtime by a score of 36-33.

This qualified our Varsity to meet Holy Redeemer in the Finals, and the experts not knowing the winning ways of our school, called our win an "upset" and were looking forward to another one against Redeemer.

All the luck and breaks of the game it seems were against us. Although the Broncos led throughout the major portion of the game, the inevitable happened, when with seven seconds of plaing ime remaining and the score deadlocked at 30-30, a free throw was awarded to one of our opponents. As the crowd grew into the tensest moment of the game, the player walked to the foul line, and nonchalantly placed the ball through the net to give Holy Redeemer a victory 31-30 and the City Championship.

VICTORS AND THE SPOILS

STATE TOURNAMENT

The Broncos entered the State Tournament and won the District Title subduing three easy foes by overwhelming scores.

The team then moved to the Regional round and beat a strong Ecorse team at Dearborn by a score of 35-20. Incidentally, this was the last performance of one of our hard working guards, especially Al Dombrowski who left for the Marines a week later.

The boys earned their trip to Lansing by turning in one of the most unsuspected and one sided scores of the Tournament by whipping Fenton 42-9 at Ferndale.

With an impressive record behind them and the only Detroit school to reach Lansing—the Fighting Poles of our school embarked at our State's capitol to meet Sturgis in the Semi-Finals at Jennison Field House. Though defected by a score of 42-37 after commanding a lead through nearly the entire game, the Broncos nevertheless were overjoyed at making this memorable trip and took pride and satisfaction in participating in so great an event in regard to the High Schools of Detroit. Thus the lid was closed on one of the most successful campaigns of all our great teams of the past.

THE CHEERLEADERS

With many hours of practicing, the cheerleaders stepped out this year and spurred the Broncos and Bron-Coeds to victory. Their cheers, yells and songs were not in vain, for they strained their vocal chords at the championship and tournament games and went with the team to Lansing.

This year's squad consisted of nine members — Virginia Silik, George Przekora, Rita Dominas, Richard Sarnocinski, Mira Tomaszewska, Dolores Wojciechowska, Theresa Staskowska, Alfred Cyplik and Thomas Ambrose. The boys and girls combined their efforts and with the aid of the entire student body were a success at the games.

Notwithstanding the heights of glory reached by our Varsity, the Reserves, the backbone of successful teams, also were on the floor reaping victories for themselves and what is most important, gaining the necessary experience to land a berth on our future squads.

3rd Row-

Since a major portion of this year's Varsity squad is composed of Seniors, we look forward to the Reserves to form the nucleus and the necessary materials to uphold our high standing in the League.

Never fail to give a Reserve team credit for they are future Varsity products.

This year's Reserve squad likewise won the East Side Championship and played Catholic Central in the Semi-Finals. The boys fought hard but had to accept defeat to a much taller foe by a score of 20-37.

The standouts of the Reserve squad were John Staskowski, captain, Steve Nokielski, George Gondek and a Frosh center, Eugene Bankey, who shows plenty of promise. We look forward to seeing these star on the Varsity and with these hopes goes our "best of luck."

THE BRONCO-EDS

The Bronco-Eds are now standing on the first step of the ladder which leads to success. They have been enrolled in the C. Y. O. league this year thus realizing something in the history of our school that was but a dream three or four years ago.

The first opponent of the season, that the Bronco-Eds encountered was the St. Rita Sextet. In the following nine games they experienced five victories and four defeats, thus landing in third place among the contestants.

In all their games the girls displayed fine sportsmanship and great ability in playing basketball. The guards did a wonderful job of upsetting the opponents' successful plans, by blocking passes and in getting the ball from the back board. Without them the team would never have won such success. The forwards' fine shooting ability together with their swift passing is what put the team in third place.

We, the Bronco-Eds, owe our success to our Coaches, Mr. Frank Watta and Miss Margaret Wegienek because it is through their understanding, patience and teaching that we have become basketball players.

> The graduating Bronco-Eds Hedwig May, Genevieve Polak and Lillian Malinowski were indeed happy to have had the opportunity of being members. They hope that the new team together with the remaining varsity members, Marian Jost, Janet Kolodziejska and Wanda Rutkowska will be able to carry on the name of the Bronco-Eds to the standards that our boys' team has attained and bring trophies, honor, and glory to our dear Alma Materl
